Coupeville Post Office Cabinet Project

What's a community to do if they need a new cabinet for announcements? Why, get in touch with the builders of the Central Whidbey Lion Club that's what!

The club was approached by the Coupeville Chamber of Commerce and the Coupeville Library with a project that seemed very interesting and a challenge. The Bulletin board at the Coupeville Post Office was outdated. The challenge was presented to the Lions Club to build a new locked cabinet for the post office. Could the "hands-on" club handle building a cabinet worthy of the post office? You bet! The cabinet was a building project with the community in mind. The entire cabinet was built from scratch by a crew of Central Whidbey Lion builders and photo is the finished product.

The cabinet will stand the test of time and last for many years to come. So if you visit the post office in Coupeville, enjoy the new Bulletin Cabinet.

Bulletins can be dropped off to the Coupeville Chamber of Commerce in the drop box outside of the Chamber and they will place them in the cabinet for your organization.
